

MAKING CONNECTIONS, SUPPORTING FAMILIES

Here's how you can connect with other r(20) families for mutual support:

Ring20 Patient Support (private group)

Our patient support group forum is available to all patients and their families affected by r(20), allowing them to connect with each other and share thoughts and experiences in a secure environment.

Request to join here: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/798475916833994/>

RareConnect Ring Chromosome 20 Forum

We also operate a separate support group forum on RareConnect for r(20) families to talk to each other in confidence. The difference here is that any posts or information can be translated into any of 12 languages including: Spanish, French, German, Portuguese, Italian, Czech, Serb/Croatian, Ukrainian, Russian, Persian, Japanese – so we can reach out to a wider audience.

Request to join here: <https://www.rareconnect.org/en/community/ring-chromosome-20-syndrome>

You can find more details on our Get Support page

Join our r(20) map
We have an anonymous PUBLIC map (shown here) displaying all known cases of r(20), as well as a PRIVATE map for r(20) members to share contact details with other families with whom they'd like to connect.
Request to join here: <http://eepurl.com/c7DNST>

View the LIVE map here.
You can find more details on our Our Members page